

Just a Dream/She's Just a Dream

(Verse 1)

Dusty old six-string hangin' on the wall
Waitin' for a melody, waitin' for a call
Been ridin' this road for a thousand miles
Chasin' after somethin' lost in lonely smiles
I can feel your whisper on the wind-swept plains
See your silhouette when the sun goes down in rains
I ain't met you yet, but I know what's true
My heart's been savin' every beat just for you

(Verse 2)

I can see you dancin' in the pale moonlight
Boots kickin' up dust on a Saturday night
Hair like a river, eyes like the sky
A little wild spirit I can't deny
We'll share a whiskey, share a laugh, share a song
Tell me all the stories of where you belong
We'll lay under a blanket of stars so bright
And you'll finally be right here by my side

(Chorus)

Oh, she's a dream, a whispered hope, a faded photograph
She's the missing piece that's waitin' on a path
When will the road turn, when will our worlds collide?
'Cause I'm ready to live, baby, I'm ready to ride
She's a dream come true, but she's still just a dream
And I'm tired of wakin' up in this lonesome stream

(Verse 3)

I'll take you back to my hometown, show you all the sights
The old creek where we'd fish, the fireflies at night
We'll meet my mama, meet my dad, meet my old best friend
Show you the place where my wild road came to an end
When the search for you is over and I can finally rest
My restless heart will finally feel truly blessed
So come on, darlin', wherever you are, won't you hurry and find me?

'Cause this lone wolf is tired of chasin' shadows and feelin' so empty

(Chorus)

Oh, she's a dream, a whispered hope, a faded photograph
She's the missing piece that's waitin' on a path
When will the road turn, when will our worlds collide?
'Cause I'm ready to live, baby, I'm ready to ride
She's a dream come true, but she's still just a dream
And I'm tired of wakin' up in this lonesome stream

She's No Dream/She's Not Just a Dream

(Verse 1)

Thunder and guitars, a roarin' in the night
A sea of faceless people bathed in neon light
Lost in the rhythm, lost inside the sound
Didn't know my world was about to turn around
Then I saw her standin' 'cross the maddenin' haze
A flash of lightnin', caught me in a daze
Felt my breath catch, like a sudden shock
My heart went beatin' like a rhythm on a clock

(Verse 2)

Saw her laughin' with her friends, a flashin' smile
I was a statue, frozen for a while Swore she looked my way, swore she saw me too
A little head tilt, a little look so new
She disappeared in the crowd before I could move
My feet were stuck like they had somethin' to prove
I started pushin', started fightin' my way
Hopin' I'd catch her, hopin' she'd stay

(Chorus)

Oh, was that her, the one from my dream?
Just a shadow slippin' out of the stream?
I waited and I watched 'til the last light went out
The empty stage echoed with my doubt
She's real, I know it, no longer a ghost
But how do I find the one I need the most?
Was it a moment, a second, a lie?
Or was that my future walkin' on by?

(Verse 3)

Walkin' to my truck in the concrete lot
Thinkin' 'bout that moment, the vision I got
Her eyes were the color of the summer sky
I could see a future reflected there and I
Knew I had to find her, had to see her face again
To know if this feelin' would ever truly end
I've been chasin' shadows and dreamin' a lie
But now I know you're real and so am I

(Chorus)

Oh, was that her, the one from my dream?
Just a shadow slippin' out of the stream?
I waited and I watched 'til the last light went out
The empty stage echoed with my doubt
She's real, I know it, no longer a ghost
But how do I find the one I need the most?
Was it a moment, a second, a lie?
Or was that my future walkin' on by?

Seeing Your Face Again/Seeing Your Face

(Verse 1)

Another Tuesday mornin', same old grind
Drivin' these streets with so much on my mind
Still seein' your face in the rearview glass
Hopin' that the moments with you won't pass
Didn't expect nothin', just another day
Toiling away for my meager pay
Had to go cross town, just a twist of fate
A quick errand I couldn't debate

(Verse 2)

Stepped in the coffee shop, smelled the rich air
Found a little table in the corner there
Just me and my thoughts, gettin' lost in the steam
Still livin' out the remnants of that crazy dream
And then the bell rang, a familiar sound
My head snapped up and my world spun 'round
It was you, standin' right by the door
Just like in my dream, and so much more

(Chorus)

And there you were, just a few feet away
Was this the moment, the dawn of a new day?
My heart was poundin', a wild, reckless drum
Was this my chance, had my time finally come?
But I froze up, a statue made of stone
Scared of losing what I'd always known
Before I could move, you were gone in a flash
Another moment, another wild, hopeless dash

(Verse 3)

I sat there starin' at that empty chair
The ghost of your presence hung in the air
I should have gone to you, should have said your name
Should have fanned the embers into a flame
But I just watched you walkin' out the door
Left me all alone, just like before
Did I lose you forever, lose you for good?
Was it a sign that I misunderstood?

(Chorus)

And there you were, just a few feet away
Was this the moment, the dawn of a new day?
My heart was poundin', a wild, reckless drum
Was this my chance, had my time finally come?
But I froze up, a statue made of stone
Scared of losing what I'd always known
Before I could move, you were gone in a flash
Another moment, another wild, hopeless dash

Looking For You/Been Looking For You

(Verse 1)

Seven days had passed since that coffee shop door
I'd been back every day, just me and the floor
My boss thinks I'm crazy, my friends think I've lost it
Every day hopin' to find where you'd been deposited
I'd see a new face with a similar style
My heart would jump, but only for a while
Just another false hope, another empty space
Until this afternoon, when I finally saw your face

(Verse 2)

You walked in so easy, just like before
Found your usual spot right by the door
You didn't see me, you just looked at the street
Sippin' your coffee, my chance to be discreet
But my feet had a mind of their own, they just moved Every fear I ever had was now fully removed
I walked up to your table, a nervous half-smile
Hopin' I wouldn't mess up after all this while

(Chorus)

I said, "I know this is crazy, but I think I saw you
Last week at the concert and a coffee shop, too"
Your eyes got so wide, a shy little laugh
Said, "Yeah, that was me, just a wandering path"
"Well, I'm the guy who froze, who couldn't find his voice
I'm so glad you came back, I didn't have a choice"
I said, "So tell me your name, what's your story, what's new?"

'Cause I've been lookin' for you, my whole life through"

(Verse 3)

We sat there for hours, the afternoon gone
I knew in that moment where I truly belonged
All those lonely roads and those long, dusty miles
Were worth it just to see your beautiful smile
I finally asked you, "So what do you say?
Wanna grab dinner with me on a Friday?"
You looked at me softly, a twinkle in your eye
And said, "Yeah, I was wonderin' if you'd ever get by"

(Chorus)

I said, "I know this is crazy, but I think I saw you
Last week at the concert and a coffee shop, too"
Your eyes got so wide, a shy little laugh
Said, "Yeah, that was me, just a wandering path"
"Well, I'm the guy who froze, who couldn't find his voice
I'm so glad you came back, I didn't have a choice"
I said, "So tell me your name, what's your story, what's new?"

'Cause I've been lookin' for you, my whole life through"

Home In My Heart/Home Deep in My Heart

(Verse 1)

That Friday night, the stars were so bright
I picked you up, everything felt right
We drove in my truck, windows rolled down
To the old diner on the edge of town
Felt like we'd known each other for years
Just talkin' and laughin', no more doubts, no more fears
You told me your stories, I told you my own
All those lonely heartaches and roads I had known

(Verse 2)

The weeks turned to months, the seasons flew by
We were buildin' a home 'neath the big, open sky
You'd paint the old porch, I'd fix the back fence
Our love was a language that made perfect sense
We got a dog, taught him how to fetch
A little bit of chaos, a perfect little sketch
Of a life we were makin', so simple and true
Every day a new adventure with me and with you

(Chorus)

Oh, the dream came true, no longer a ghost
You're right here beside me, the one I love most
The search is all over, the journey is done
Two hearts beat together, now we're standin' as one
From a glimpse in a crowd to a life we now share
The whispered hope answered, a promise in the air
You're the girl in the song, the one from the start
And you'll always be the home in my heart

(Verse 3)

Now we're grayin' a little, a few wrinkles showin'
But the love between us just keeps on growin'
Sittin' on the porch swing, watchin' the sun fall
I still see that girl from the rock concert hall
And you'll reach for my hand with that same gentle grace
A little tear falls as I look at your face
You're more than a dream, you're my whole world, you see
You're the sweet, beautiful reality

(Chorus)

Oh, the dream came true, no longer a ghost
You're right here beside me, the one I love most
The search is all over, the journey is done
Two hearts beat together, now we're standin' as one
From a glimpse in a crowd to a life we now share
The whispered hope answered, a promise in the air
You're the girl in the song, the one from the start
And you'll always be the home in my heart

You Were The Dream/You Were My Dream

(Verse 1)

The old porch swing creaks on a quiet afternoon
The same kind of light from a harvest moon
My little girl sits beside me, her head in my lap
And I get lost in the memories of a life in a snap
Her hair is the color of the sunset's last flame
Just like her mama, who had that same name
I see your bright smile when she starts to laugh
And I get lost in that old black and white photograph

(Verse 2)

I remember the concert, the flash in the crowd
The coffee shop moment, singin' our love out loud
Every twist and every turn, every chance and every miss
Led me to you and a lifetime of bliss
I wouldn't change a thing, not a single road I've trod
'Cause it brought me to you, a true gift from God
And I know you're still with me, a whisper in the breeze
A beautiful memory hangin' in the trees

(Chorus)

Oh, you were the dream, the girl from my song
My sweet, wild spirit, where I always belonged
And I'll miss you forever, a tear for the past
But the love that we built was too strong to not last
And I see you every day in the eyes of my child
A beautiful part of you still runnin' wild
The dream came true, and I was blessed to be
The man who found you for all eternity

(Verse 3)

My little girl asks me what you were like
I tell her you were a mountain bike ride
Down a dusty road on a hot summer day
You were a firefly catchin' on a dark river bay
I tell her stories of your kind and gentle heart
That we were together right from the start
And she listens so closely, a beautiful sight
My little girl carryin' your love and your light

(Verse 4)

The porch light comes on, the day starts to fade
And I whisper a thank you for the life we made
I kiss my little girl, she heads off to bed
And a sweet sense of peace fills my heart and my head
And I know you're up there, watchin' from above
Still my reason for livin', still my one true love
And I'll see you again, my beautiful dove
Until then I'll just keep on sendin' you my love

(Chorus)

Oh, you were the dream, the girl from my song
My sweet, wild spirit, where I always belonged
And I'll miss you forever, a tear for the past
But the love that we built was too strong to not last
And I see you every day in the eyes of my child
A beautiful part of you still runnin' wild
The dream came true, and I was blessed to be
The man who found you for all eternity
